

Segregated or Integrated? - Living and Dying in the harbour city of Ostia, 300 BCE - 700 CE

Location: Keynes Seminar Room 7, Keynes College, University of Kent (Canterbury Campus)

Friday 6th May 2016

09.30 Introduction: Arja Karivieri (Tampere/Stockholm)

The Global and the Local Chair Olli Salomies (Helsinki)

10.00-10.30 Ray Laurence (Kent): Connectivity, Mobility and the Cities of the Roman Empire

10.30-11.00 Lynne Bennett (Kent): The Local and the Global: Contextualising the Use of Formulae in Epitaphs at Ostia

11.00-11.30 Coffee/Tea

Bio-Archaeological Approaches to Roman Urban Populations Chair – Anna Kjellstrom (Stockholm)

11.30-12.00 Hella Eckardt (Reading): Living and Dying in the Roman Cities of Britain: Recent Isotope and aDNA Research

12.00-12.30 Becky Redfern (Museum of London): Urban Life, Identity and Immigration in Roman London

12.30-1.00 Becky Gowland (Durham): Health, Diet and Living Environment in Rome: The Skeletal and Funerary Evidence

1.00-2.00 Lunch

Urban Society at Ostia Chair Katariina Mustakallio (Tampere)

2.00-2.30 Henrik Mouritsen (King's College London): The Social Structure of Ostia Reconsidered

2.30-3.00 Luke Lavan (Kent): Ostia in Late Antiquity

3.00-3.30 Tea/Coffee

Urban Life at Ostia Antica Chair Marja-Leena Hänninen (Tampere)

3.30-4.00: Jeff D. Veitch (Kent): Auditory Presence: Human Experience and Acoustics at Ostia

4.00-4.30: Paula Lock (Kent): The Bars of Ostia: Function, Form and Falernian

4.30-5.00: Ellen Swift (Kent) Objects and Urban Life in the Roman Empire

5.00-6.00: Summing-Up and Discussion